Pourakarmikas begin indefinite stir in city

More than 1,500 civic workers join Statewide agitation

Mysuru, June 12 (RK&NNN)- Even as Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) is making all efforts to regain the top spot in the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan, there are impediments in its way by the very people who can keep the city clean.

Yes, hundreds of Pourakarmikas gathered in front of the MCC pitching tents on either side of the footpath on Sayyaji Rao Road, here this morning, in response to the indefinite Statewide agitation called by the Contract Pourakarmikas.

In all, there are 1,648 temporary workers and another 230 in Vani Vilas Water Works who joined the agitation bringing the garbage collection since morning to a grinding halt. However, the permanent workers numbering 570 have gone about their work in important places, collecting garbage.

The civic workers in uniform began their dharna in the morning holding placards, beating drums and raising slogans demanding regularisation of their service.

Mysuru Nagara Pourakarmikara Sangha President N. Mara, speaking to Star of Mysore, said: "We will continue our strike till the demands are met. Our State President and former Mysuru Mayor Narayan is leading the agitation in Bengaluru in Freedom Park. If Chief Minister Siddharamaiah decides to come and redress our grievances, we can withdraw the agitation."

"As it is, the garbage collection is quite poor as can be seen from the photographs published in your newspaper often. If the Pourakarmikas resort to strike, one can imagine the impact it has on our daily lives," said Neela, a concerned citizen in Vijayangar 3rd Stage, pointing to the piled up garbage in front of her house.

"If the Government does not step in and stem the rot, the whole city will be stinking in no time. We just cannot afford to antagonise the Pourakarmikas who are the lifeline to a clean healthy life," said Raghu, a resident of Jayalakshmipuram.

"The way people treat us when we go to collect the garbage is very inhuman. We are involved in one of the most difficult jobs of keeping the city clean by collecting all kinds of refuse. But neither the Government nor the public are bothered about our welfare," said Pourakarmika Raju speaking to Star of Mysore.

The strike ironically has also hit the Ward of Mayor M.J. Ravikumar, as piles of garbage lay strewn on the lanes and bylanes, even as garbage tippers stood parked as silent witnesses.

City President Srinivas, District President N. Narasimha, General Secretary Murugesh, Members R. Vijay, Dhanraj, Armugam, Prof. K.S. Bhagawan and others joined the Pourakarmikas in the protest.

K.R. Sub-Division ACP Dharmappa and K.R. Police Inspector Prakash provided Police bandobust.

Karnataka Bandh evokes poor response in Mysuru

Mysuru, June 12 (MTY&DM)- The Statewide bandh call by several pro-Kannada outfits today seeking resolution of Mahadayi water issue, a permanent solution for water woes in North Karnataka and other issues haunting the State, evoked poor response, as normal life continued in all parts of the city.

Transport services remained unaffected as KSRTC and private buses, autos, taxis, tempos, cabs etc., plied as usual, with no untoward incidents reported from any part of the city.

Prayers to Prime Minister

Legend has it that during the rule of Moghuls, Akbar, one of the emperors of the middle-ages dynasty, had kept a bell hanging in the Palace premises which any citizen could ring to invite the king's attention and get an audience from him to narrate the woes and seek redressal from the topmost authority. In an aside, an ass also rang the bell and it is immaterial to know what followed. One is prompted to hasten and remark, in a virtual encore of the ass-related episode, citizens ringing the bell in our times at the various offices of the authorities in the departments of the government, are made to feel asinine.

Let us digress from the aforementioned subject and dwell on more important issues. To provide a background before proceeding further, one has to note that citizens generate wealth in cash as well as kind only for the government to claw its long fingers into the kitty of people ostensibly to meet the expenses of the State on governance. While the citizens are at liberty to spend their money on necessities or splurge on luxuries, the government is obliged to exercise care and caution in deploying public funds for functioning on acceptable lines. More is not necessary to be said on the rules of the game called administration.

If only economics and the principles enunciated by the flock of academics revelling in that subject, including the postulates of Vishnu Gupta (Kautilya) included in his magnum opus Arthashastra, dominated administration, instead of politics as practised by the land's self-proclaimed netas and their cohorts in administration (bureaucrats), nobody has reason to complain. But, as even a high school student knows, politics of the netas has stumped economics of the academics.

Readers of articles, reports, public statements by honchos of the country's industrial world and so on published by dailies and presentations on the small screen by different channels are taking note (in bewildering silence) of the sweat and toil of the wealth-generators by raising crops, manufacturing products, providing services and so on, even as the members of the Union Cabinet are excelling one another in their rhetoric (verbal diarrhoea) on the floor of the nation's Parliament as well as on public platforms. The Union Finance Minister in the land's incumbent government is currently battling with the twin tasks of bridging the trade gap resulting in current account deficit and reducing the fiscal deficit to balance the government's budget year on year. The think-tank of the government is currently upbeat about marshalling the required financial resources through Goods and Services Tax (GST) in the range of 5 to 28 percent, a move that has ruffled the nation, as reported in the media.

In the foregoing backdrop, the Fervent Appeal made to the Prime Minister by the Punjab Apex Chamber of Commerce and Industry, published in a widely read daily last week, virtually sounding like a prayer, suggests a pragmatic basis for taxing products of Micro, Small, Medium Enterprises (MSME). If the top brass in Delhi responds to the prayer positively, the life of both people at large and industry is bound to be less taxing (pun intended).

SETTING THE GROUNDS FOR ABSENCE : Last month, a special trial court was miffed with Sahara Chief Subrata Roy when he missed his court appearance because he was said to be suffering from gastroenteritis. When Roy turned up in court on Wednesday, proceedings took an amusing turn as the judges, lawyers and the doctor present discussed the matter. The judge had a series of gastro-related queries to decide whether diarrhoea could be grounds for absence from court.

Bringing life to dead brains!

Philadelphia: Bioquark, a biotechnology company from Philadelphia believes brain death is not as irreversible as most people think, and claims to have come up with a series of injections capable of "re-setting" the brain, essentially bringing patients back to life. Ira Pastor, the CEO of Bioquark, and his collaborator, Indian orthopedic surgeon Himanshu Bansal, have yet to announce the details of the tests, a pretty good idea of how they plan to reverse brain death. Bioquark planned to examine patients aged 12 to 65 that had been declared brain dead following traumatic brain injury, using MRI, to look for signs of potential brain death reversal. They would then harvest stem cells from the patients' own blood and inject them back into their body. Then, the patients would receive a dose of peptides injected into their spinal cord, and go through a 15-day period of nerve stimulation involving lasers and median nerve stimulation that the biotech company hopes will reverse brain death.

World's most expensive Ham

Madrid: Eduardo Donato is one of the many pig farmers in Spain who specialise in "jamón," a traditional cured ham recognised for its delicious taste and nutritional value. However, his jamón is special. It is widely recognised as the most delicious ham in the world, and, at €4,100 ($4,600) per leg, also the most expensive.

Eduardo's wanted to change his place for certain reason ended up in Huelva, on the southern side of the Sierra de Aracena. In 2005, he learned of a breed called Spotted Jabugo, after the local government started offering specimens to farmers, at a symbolic price. Nobody wanted them, because they yield less meat and some specimens are born with white hooves, instead of the black pigment that has become a trademark of Spanish jamón. To him, those were all advantages, because he didn't plan on raising them for money. And yet, he ended up producing the world's best and most expensive ham.

Food fraudsters on the run

Sir,

You rightly wrote through your editorial about the climbing graph of Food Frauds' Free Run in our country, which is also true globally, while appreciating the good efforts of food scientists and technologists of CFTRI for developing various food products and processes for enterprising food industries in the country for the benefit of mankind (SOM dated June 7).

But in recent times such beneficial technologies are sometimes misused resulting in adulteration of food items in the market as averred by you which is the result of personal avarice. The whole system is plagued by corruption and nothing else right from the Food Inspectors to the top brass in our country which corrodes the whole system of freedom from adulteration of food items in the market.

How to bell the cat is an unending question and your trenchant editorial on food adulteration leaves many questions unanswered in the years to come as long as the adulteration is the name of the game.

RSS, BJP conspiring to convert India into a Hindu State: Sitaram Yechury

CPI(M) General Secretary Sitaram Yechury (centre) along with former MLA G.V. Sriramareddy and State Committee Member G.N. Nagaraj during State-level CPI(M) Convention at P. Kalinga Rao auditorium in Dasara Exhibition Grounds in city yesterday. Picture right shows members taking out a rally from Freedom Fighters Park to Dasara Exhibition Grounds.

Mysuru, June 12 (RKB&VNS)- "Known for its unity in diversity and secular policies, India is now being forced to convert into a Hindu nation, all thanks to RSS and BJP," said CPI(M) General Secretary Sitaram Yechury here yesterday. He was speaking after inaugurating the State-level Convention organised by the party at P. Kalinga Rao auditorium at Dasara Exhibition Grounds.

"There have been severe attacks to destroy the four pillars of our Constitution — Secular Democracy, Social Justice, Economic Independence and Federal Structure. This apart, riots in the name of caste and religion is also being witnessed in the country and people involved in such acts are projecting it to be patriotism. It was Subhash Chandra Bose who promoted the slogan 'Jai Hind.' The real meaning of patriotism is to bring people together and not to divide them," he added.

Yechury said that both RSS and BJP was conspiring to damage the federal system in the name of one country-one tax, one country-one election and one country-one law. He also added that the rights of Parliament and Assemblies were being infringed through introduction of GST Bill. "The State Governments which had to develop through collection of taxes will be forced to beg before the Central Government for funds in case of crisis," he added.

Stating that Hindi language was being forced upon children in States, Yechury said that the move will make children forget their respective State languages and study in Hindi language.

Taking a jibe on the Digital India concept, he said that it would only help the digital companies grow and not the others. He also accused the Government for opening fire against the farmers for demanding loan waiver.

"India is a country where people have freedom to practice any religion and pray to any God. Unfortunately, few people in the name of Go Rakshak Committee are attacking Dalits and minorities. It is the responsibility of Police to protect the cows and not private persons," he said.

Prior to his speech, Yechury also praised Mysuru and said that it was Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar who first introduced reservation in the country. He also said that Mysuru was home for great personalities such as Tipu Sulthan, Kuvempu, U.R. Ananthamurthy, G.S. Shivarudrappa, Devanur Mahadeva among others.

CPI(M) Mysuru District Secretary K. Basavaraju, former MLA G.V. Sriramareddy, State Committee Members G.N. Nagaraj, S. Varalakshmi & Vijaykumar, Kodagu District Secretary Dr. I.R. Durgaprasad and others were present.

The members also took out a mammoth rally from Freedom Fighters Park to Dasara Exhibition Grounds.

Two die in accident near Belavatha village

Relatives stage protest in front of K.R. Hospital

Mysuru, June 12- Two bike-borne riders who met with an accident on Saturday night in the outskirts of the city, near Belavatha village, succumbed to injuries as the treatment failed.

The two who have died are Raghavendra and Shankar, both residents of Belavatha village and working in a Bar in Sharadadevi Nagar.

They were returning from work on Saturday night on the motorbike (KA-09 EX-2456) when a Tata Ace (KA-09 B-4533) vehicle driven rashly, hit the bike on Ring Road, near RBI Railway underbridge.

The rider Raghavendra and pillion Shankar suffered grievous head injuries in the accident. When they were taken to the K.R. Hospital, the doctors have told the people accompanying them that there was no ventilator in the hospital and they should be taken to another hospital.

Raghavendra

Shankar

The injured were shifted to St. Joseph's Hospital. However, Shankar succumbed to the injuries on Sunday afternoon and in the evening Raghavendra also died, said the Police.

Protest near K.R. Hospital: The relatives of Shankar and Raghavendra staged a protest in front of K.R. Hospital yesterday, accusing the doctors of negligence.

State Govt.'s scheme: It may be recalled that one Harish was pleading to donate his organs, even as he lay on the road with his body cut into two following an accident in Bengaluru. The State Government had implemented a scheme in the name of Harish, honouring him for his act of valour. If a person is injured in an accident, one should be provided emergency treatment.

The protesters alleged that when Shankar and Raghavendra were brought to the Hospital, the doctors instead of treating them immediately gave the excuse that there was no ventilator. As the victims were bleeding profusely, what they needed was immediate medical attention. Instead, the doctors chose to ignore and asked the victims to be shifted to another hospital giving the excuse of lack of ventilator, alleged the protesters expressing their ire. V.V. Puram Police have registered a case and are investigating.

Man injured in hit-and-run case

Mysuru, June 12 (RK&DM)- In a hit-and-run case, a 50-year-old pedestrian sustained serious injuries when he was hit by an unidentified vehicle near Nadanahalli on Mysuru-T. Narasipur Road this morning.

The injured pedestrian has been identified as Swamy of Nadanahalli.

The seriously injured Swamy was rushed to nearby Kaveri Hospital. Siddhartha Traffic Police Inspector Harish Kumar and staff visited the spot and conducted mahazar.

BSY to hold three-day Satyagraha from July 7

Mysuru, June 12 (PM&DM)- State BJP President and former Chief Minister B.S. Yeddyurappa said that he will hold a three-day satyagraha in Bengaluru from July 7 to 9 to urge the Government to waive off farmers' loan in Co-operative Banks.

Speaking to the media after performing puja to cattle at Pinjrapole at the foot of Chamundi Hill yesterday, Yeddyurappa, who is on a State-wide tour as part of the party's Janasamparka Abhiyana,' said that he will hold the 3-day satyagraha to demand waiver of farm loans in Co-operative Banks. On the fourth-day, a Convention will be held where nearly 3 to 4 lakh farmers from across the State are expected to attend. However, the protest will be withdrawn if the Government announces loan waiver, he added.

Pointing out that he will visit two constituencies in each district after completing his State-wide tour by the end of June, Yeddyurappa said that he will continue to hold public meetings till August end.

Maintaining that the State's 'Anna Bhagya' scheme is a Central Government initiative for which CM Siddharamaiah is taking credit, Yeddyurappa said that he has directed his party workers to visit Fair Price Shops in the State and erect photos of PM Narendra Modi and MPs and to explain the public that the lion's share for the programme is funded by the Central Government.

When asked about JD(S) State President H.D. Kumaraswamy's statement that both the BJP and Congress have no commitment on farm loan waiver, he said that he would not respond to Kumaraswamy's statements as he just makes 'hit-and-run' allegations and never sticks to his words.

Accusing the Congress Government of indulging in rampant corruption, Yeddyurappa alleged that Bengaluru had become a 'Goonda' city with crime rate increasing alarmingly.

'BJP will get majority in next elections'

State BJP President and former CM B.S. Yeddyurappa is seen felicitating specially-abled candidate Kempahonnaiah, who secured the 340th Rank in the UPSC Civil Services Exam, during the party workers meeting held at MMC&RI auditorium in J.K. Grounds yesterday.

Mysuru, June12- Asserting that the BJP will come to power in the 2018 Assembly polls, State BJP President and former CM B.S. Yeddyurappa said that the party can win 5-6 constituencies in the district if there was an honest effort by party workers.

Addressing the party leaders and workers at the MMC&RI Auditorium in J.K. Grounds here yesterday, Yeddyurappa said that the people were in favour of the BJP with all communities supporting the party.

INTERVIEW OF THE WEEK...

"PM Modi is not a person, he is an institution"

Says radical thinker Anil Bokil, who is famous as 'Demonetisation Man'

It is a little over seven months now since Prime Minister Narendra Modi took a bold step to demonetise Rs. 1000 and Rs. 500 currency notes. The sudden move by the PM was also called 'Surgical Strike.' But the jury is still out on this unusual move. However, one person who suddenly became famous as the 'Demonetisation Man' was Anil Bokil of Pune-based ArthaKranti Sansthan. He is the one who gave the idea to the PM and that is what everybody is talking about.

Bokil was in town on May 27 on the invitation of Namma Mysuru Foundation and Confederation of Indian Industry (CII), Mysuru. He spoke for nearly two hours and raised some fundamental questions about the economy, why there is corruption in the country and how abolishing taxes completely could resolve many problems.

Star of Mysore Features Editor N. Niranjan Nikam caught up with the radical thinker Anil Bokil the next day and tried to understand some of his ideas which sound very Utopian like e-monetisation, Bank Transaction Tax, global currency in the world and what his NGO ArthaKranti is doing. Excerpts. —Ed

Anil Bokil, Founder of Pune-based ArthaKranti.

"Economics is a science of research while Finance is a science of money — it is not real. Science of resources is Economics. This is what we have been talking about in ArthaKranti, which is our mission — India's Economic Rejuvenation..."

By N. Niranjan Nikam

Star of Mysore: You have been touted as the man behind demonetisation. But is this 'surgical strike?' Is this what you suggested?

Anil Bokil: It is not what I suggested. It is not surgical strike. It is a planned process and a lot of work has gone into it, which is a must. So we call it e-monetisation and not demonetisation.

SOM: What is e-monetisation?

Anil Bokil: It is a digital economy. Banking system is in the social domain. It is a social asset. It cannot be a personal asset. 'ArthaKranti' does not propose to demonetise the economy. It proposes to limit currency to face value of Rs. 50.

SOM: Is it really you who gave PM Modi this idea? If so how did this happen?

Anil Bokil: Since last 20 years we have been pursuing this idea. Not just Modi, but we had called on leaders of most political parties and top leaders in the country to talk about this. It so happened that Modi got a clear majority and that is why he was able to move it. If you have a fractured mandate you could not do it. Clear mandate is what helped him to take the decision.

SOM: Being an engineer, how did you get interested in the economy and its ills plaguing the country?

Anil Bokil: It is not the question of being an engineer. I have a lot of responsibility and it is everybody's responsibility. It is not my privilege, it is my responsibility to find solution for a viable, feasible and implementable ideas too.

SOM: What motivated you to name your NGO ArthaKranti?

Anil Bokil: Because, what we are talking here is Finance and Economy and the rift between the two. Nobody can understand the difference between these two, Finance and Economics and how it can be assimilated. Markets never work for one individual, it works for consumers. As a result what we see is socio-ecological exploitation as everything is on sale, even something like carbon credit. Economics is a science of research while Finance is a science of money — it is not real. Science of resources is economics. This is what we have been talking about in ArthaKranti, which is our mission — India's Economic Rejuvenation.

SOM: Are you in tune with any political party? Do you have any leanings like the influence of RSS?

Anil Bokil: We are not Leftist or Rightist. We are Humanists. This is our stand. The whole family of 130 crore is our family and I am a responsible member of this family.

SOM: ArthaKranti has been in existence for more than 20 years. How much of a difference has it made to people and the country with its revolutionary ideas?

Anil Bokil: This is not a one time process. It is a process and cleansing of whole economics too. Gradually, we will see the result. We have to keep looking over the proceedings and whenever required tweak it. Our aim is to see that we are not deviating from the goal of principled, prosperous and peaceful life for every Indian. That is the aim of our mission.

SOM: The radical idea of abolishing taxes completely is mind-boggling. What will happen to all the tax institutions like Income Tax, Commercial Tax, Excise, especially in a tax-trigger happy government like ours?

Anil Bokil: (Smiles) It is not a radical idea. It can be negotiated with all people. A good scheme can be offered to everybody who is going to be impacted and his future can be well planned. That is just a matter of negotiation. It is not just a thought we are talking about here, it is a complete design we have in place. It is well explained and a thorough process.

SOM: Removing all taxes and introducing BTT (Bank Transaction Tax) sounds very Utopian for the common man. How do you justify it?

Anil Bokil: There is no doubt the proposal seems Utopian. But ArthaKranti has a structure and design, a complete proposal and transition plan that we have done very scientifically. As a result of which a model Finance Bill has been produced by ArthaKranti. We have worked on this for two-and-a-half-years gathering efforts of intelligence and spent about Rs. 40 lakh.

SOM: You come very well-prepared for your talks and the PPT you show is very convincing, especially regarding the leakages that lead to corruption. Is it as simple as you project it?

Anil Bokil: It is that simple because parallel economy has an impact on the country. There are so many taps that are leaking because of tax evasion and this leaking is what is black money. But nobody knows how much black or unaccounted money is there. This is what leads to parallel economy and money laundering. It gets more serious and parallel economy mess becomes underground economy. For instance, in elections, who is funding the politicians — a corrupt bureaucracy.

50 per cent poor farmers are unemployed. If he is not able to live, he commits suicide. But the youth in urban areas say, "If I can't live why should you live?" and then gets into organised crime. The system cannot accommodate him, then he becomes a terrorist.

If we have to change, then leakages have to be stopped. Why is it that a person eating tambakoo spits on the road, but not in the airport. The environment has to change and everybody changes with it.

"GST in comparison with the present tax system is a good one but not the best. If you compare GST with ArthaKranti's BTT (Bank Transaction Tax) proposal, which is the best one in view of India's social and economic structure. That is why we are advocating BTT. Our aim is not to reject GST but to install or adopt BTT."

Bengaluru, Mysuru doctors enthral music-lovers in city

Mysuru, June 12 (SPN& NNN)- Lauding the efforts of the doctors for their first-of-its-kind initiative in the State, by participating in "Vaidyarinda Kavya Bhavayana," a musical tribute to the poets, industrialist Dr. M. Jagannath Shenoy said that such efforts must be encouraged.

He was speaking after inaugurating the programme at Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha on JLB Road organised by Sugama Sangeetha Academy Trust, here on Saturday and said, "In the last couple of years the doctors in Mysuru have been organising music programmes involving film songs sung by the doctors themselves. However, this is the first time probably that a group of doctors have come together to sing songs penned by great Kannada poets."

Senior Sugama Sangeetha artiste H.R. Leelavathi said that many who have learnt in the Academy have gone on to become very good singers in the society. And what is unique is even doctors are there in this galaxy of singers.

Some of the songs sung by the doctors in melodious voices included, 'Bangara Neera,' 'Heege ondu halli,' 'Elliruve Kaanisade,' 'Kadala preethiyalli,' 'Hattira hattiravaguttide,' 'Ningagi haduvenu,' 'Taalake Taalavide,' 'Naadina punya.'

Bengaluru doctors Dr. B.R. Padmanabha Rao, Dr. Rohini Mohan, Dr. Madhavi Raja, Dr. Anupama Shetty and Mysuru doctors Dr. A. Jayaram, Dr. D.G. Ravikumar, Dr. Sushma Krishnamurthy and Dr. Snehashri performed with lot of élan.

C. Vishwanath on the mandolin, Indushekar on the tabla, Nithin Rajaram Shastry on the keyboard, Raghavendra Prasad on the rhythm pad provided background music. The songs were set to the tunes composed by late S.G. Raghuram, H.R. Leelavathi and Dr. Madhavi Raja.

Dr. Rohini and Dr. Jayaram compered the programme. Kamakshi Hospital Medical Superintendent Dr. C. Umesh Kamath and Sugama Sangeetha Academy Trust Vice-President T. R. Harish were present.

SOM: You are not too convinced about the GST to be implemented very soon because the Prime Minister and the Finance Minister, the Government and even the Opposition are convinced about the changes it can bring. Is there anything you can do about it?

Anil Bokil: GST in comparison with the present tax system is a good one but not the best. If you compare GST with ArthaKranti's BTT proposal, which is the best one in view of India's social and economic structure. That is why we are advocating ArthaKranti's BTT proposal. Our aim is not to reject GST but to install or adopt BTT.

SOM: How much have you studied Kautilya's Arthashastra and come to a conclusion that it is the best for our country?

Anil Bokil: It is not best for our country, but best for the whole world's economy. The modern financial practices have created best access to the world. This can be a proposal addressed by deep profound concept like Kautilya's Arthashastra.

We propose a global currency. As I always say, money is a medium and not a commodity. So if you want to have a solution to global problems, then we should have global governance too. Here we need to have a single currency access to the whole world because new trade and market will be widely open and cross all limitations of national boundaries. Hence, to move towards a single global market, a single currency is the need of the hour. Our ulterior aim is Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam.

SOM: When did you meet Modi? Is it true that when you met him, he was so impressed that he gave you a lot of time? On the contrary, when you took this idea to Rahul Gandhi he just did not even look at it?

Anil Bokil: Modi is not a person, he is an institution. I had met him before he became the Prime Minister and he did listen to me. However, it is not true that Rahul Gandhi dismissed my idea. I met him in 2014 and he directed my proposal to his think-tank team headed by Prof. G. Mohan Gopal, Director, Rajiv Gandhi Institute for Contemporary Studies. Rahul wanted to understand it in depth and I think he did the right thing by entrusting it to the think-tank▪

MGP: Corporation refusing to implement online tax collection

Mysuru, June 12 (SPN& NNN)- The Mysore Grahakara Parishat's (MGP) repeated attempts to get the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) to introduce online collection of property tax have failed, alleged MGP member G. Sridhar.

He was speaking at the MGP's monthly public meeting yesterday at the Yadavagiri office and said that every time a new MCC Commissioner took over, the MGP submitted memoranda, but to no avail. Hence, a fresh thinking is required, he added.

Besides, the Corporation officials are visiting the houses in the respective wards and gathering information regarding the property tax. Since many years, taxes have not been collected in the Revenue layouts. No one is raising their voice against such anomalies. As a result, the government is losing crores of rupees in the form of taxes. Apart from this, even taxes are not being collected from the residents in the MUDA layouts, he charged.

Notice to tax-payers: Notices have been issued to the owners who have paid their house tax in Sharadadevi Nagar. This shows the callous attitude of the officials, said Sridhar.

A doctor, who is a member of the MGP, said that the private hospitals are not treating the patients with any service motto. Instead, they are collecting lakhs of rupees from poor patients with health insurance and subjecting them to all kinds of tests, highlighted the doctor.

He also warned that the patients should always stick to the prescriptions given by the doctors and not a different one dispensed by the pharmacists. If anything untoward happens, then the doctors cannot be held responsible. Also, it becomes difficult to fight the case legally, he said.

Bhamy V. Shenoy, S.D. Sauhakar, K.S. Narasimhamurthy, Col.Mahendra Babu, Dr. T. N. Manjunath, Dwarakanath, Narayan, Vijay Srinivasan, K.R. Sheshadri, B.P. Ashok, Geetha Swaminathan, S. Yogeendra, K.V. Ramanath, Arun Kumar Shettar, D.C. Lakshmikumar, Dr. B.R. Pai, Dr. K.R. Joshi, Rajan, Somanath and others were present at the meeting.

Deputy Commissioner (DC) D. Randeep, who presided over the function, said that awareness on the ill-effects of child labour should be created among the public and added that a scientific survey on child labourers should be conducted.

He called upon the public to call 1098 if they come across child labourers so that the department concerned could act immediately and rescue the children and send them to rehabilitation besides stating that this was the only weapon they had at present to prevent child labour.

Creating beneficial spaces

Adapting the science of Vastu or Feng Shui from the inception of a project can prevent costly mistakes. By incorporating classical Feng Shui principles into your new home construction/ design, the benefits are tremendous. The premise behind Feng Shui is to ensure that your home and the surrounding exterior environment supports and enhances greater human potential, opportunity and positive experience. It is said that a large portion of the future occupant's fate can be decided by the way the building is placed on a piece of land. Using time-tested mathematical formulas based on the date and how a structure is to be placed on a piece of land, one could build a home that ushers success, prosperity, good health, and a happy family life.

We may not be able to correct our neighbourhood and surroundings but we can surely adapt Feng Shui to counter the ill-effects and restore the harmony within our space. These corrective measures will go a long way to abate energy that is disturbing and enhance the energy that feels good.

From the subatomic particles to skyscrapers, from good vibes to auras, everything in the universe is said to be vibrating. Every bit of us is a vibrating energy and we live in an environment that is vibrating energy.

Our personal vibrations interact with the vibrations of our environment including the people, places and things that make up our world. Art of Feng Shui helps in actively choosing or intending to engage with the favourable energy available to us at all times.

Feng Shui will help you rearrange what you have to create the best possible visual impression, so that your home will look more orderly, more balanced, and more beautiful. With a little bit of resourceful thinking, you can make Feng Shui work just by re-imagining how you can use the things you already have. The few specific decorative items used in Feng Shui that you may wish to purchase, like plants, mirrors and chimes, are not too expensive, so even if you do indulge in a bit of shopping to complete your Feng Shui project, it would be worth the effort and time invested. No doubt for a proper arrangement and correct Feng Shui you would need some professional advice and guidance.

It is said that there is almost no interior design flaw that Feng Shui can't minimise or disguise. For example, if you have a room that feels cramped or stifling because of architectural flaws like a low ceiling or small windows, Feng Shui can help you create strong visual lines that will make the room feel airier and more comfortable.

• Locate bedrooms in the most beneficial positions for each family member

• Orient and adapt the best positions for main doors, interior door openings, kitchen appliances and living spaces for beneficial to prevent obstacles for the life-enhancing energy flow.

• Ensure all designs are studied and any defects due to negative energy emanating from the environment is countered and neutralised with modifications in your interior layouts.

• Adapt floor decor, colours and materials that create the right balance and enhance the quality of energy throughout your home.

If you want to create an environment that increases prosperity, lifts your mood, enhances health and boosts your energy, now is the time to use Feng Shui.

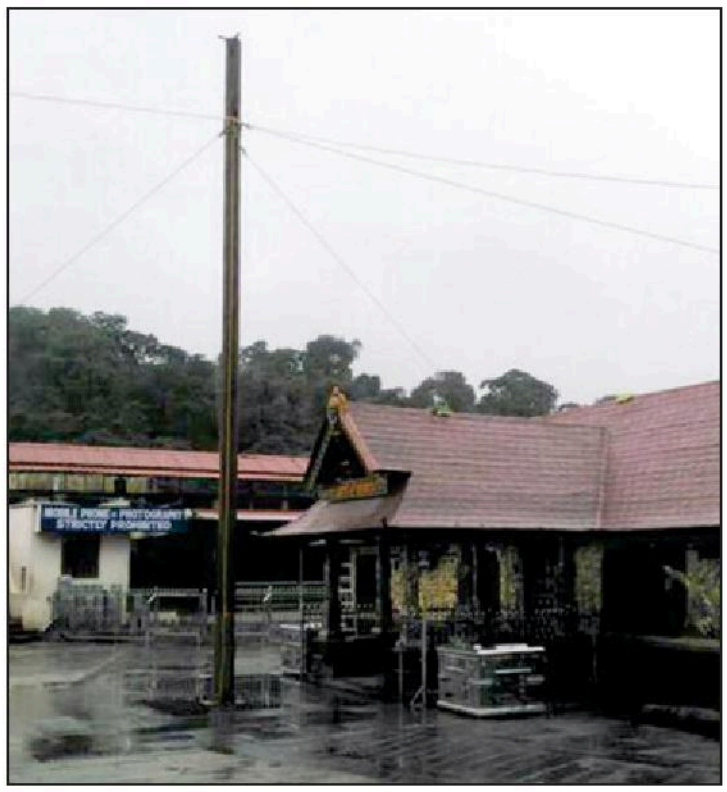
Sabarimala Temple mast to be installed on June 25



Pathanamthitta (Kerala), June 12- Preparations are on for the ceremonial installation of a new temple mast at the Sabarimala Ayyappa Temple by the Travancore Devaswom Board (TDB).

The 12-metre-long, finely chiselled, teakwood mast was specially prepared by immersing it in medicated oil for one year.

The wood was taken to the holy hillock by hundreds of Ayyappa devotees on their shoulders from Pampa on May 22. The teakwood was fixed to the foundation set up at the temple on May 25.

A team of master craftsmen from Parumala have made the cylindrical copper coverings (chembu-para) to be kept around the teakwood. All the cylindrical pieces and the small idols to be kept on the Temple mast have been covered with gold plates.

Ananthan Achary, Palani Achary and Anu Ananthan, the craftsmen from Parumala, led the gold-covering work on the specially cast copper drums and idols.

The work involves meticulous sticking of gold foils with mercury around the drum. The TDB sources told a section of the Press that a total of 130 kg of gold had been used.

Temple opening

TDB Administrative Officer Yatheendranath told that the Ayyappa Temple would be opened on June 14 afternoon for the monthly rituals in the Malayalam month of Midhunom that begins the next day.

The monthly rituals will begin with the Tantri Kandararu Rajeevararu performing the Ashtadravya Maha Ganapati Homa on June 15 morning.

Ashtabhishekom, Sahasrakalasabhishekom, Kalabhabhishekom, Pushpabhishekom and Padipuja will be the special rituals to be performed at the Temple on all days from June 15 to 19.

Yatheendranath said that the Temple would remain open even after the culmination of the five-day monthly rituals for the Shuddhikriya to be performed in preparation for the installation of the new Temple mast.

The ceremonial installation of the new temple mast will be held on June 25. The Tantri, assisted by the Melsathi, T.M. Unnikrishnan Namboodiri, will perform the tantric rites.

Yatheendran said that the Kodiyettu ceremony, marking the start of the 10-day temple ritual, will be held on June 28.

The Tantri, assisted by the Melsanthi, will hoist the ceremonial flag on the Temple mast.

The ritualistic Pallivetta will be held on July 6 and the festival will come to a close with the Arattu ceremony on July 7.

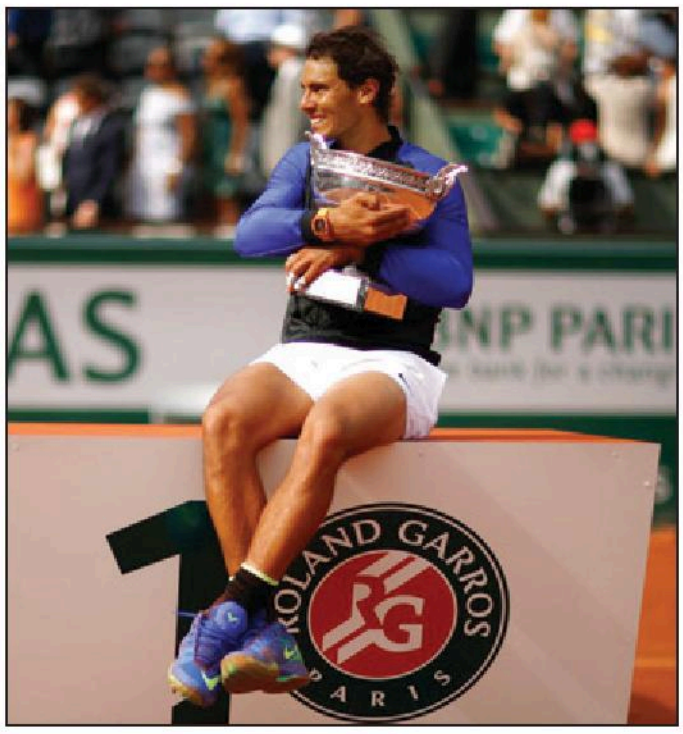
Nadal beats Wawrinka

Wins 10th French Open title



Paris, June 12- Rafael Nadal entered the record book by winning his 10th French Open title yesterday defeating Stan Wawrinka in straight sets. The win also earned him his 15th Grand Slam crown.

The 31-year-old triumphed 6-2, 6-3, 6-1. His collection of Slams now stands just three behind great rival Roger Federer. This is the first time Nadal has won in Paris without dropping a set.

It was the 22nd Slam final for Nadal; just the fourth for Wawrinka, the oldest man in the championship match in 44 years. Yesterday was also the first time since 1969 that the Roland Garros featured two men over 30 in the final.

Wawrinka had the first break point in the third game but he couldn't take advantage and it proved to be the only break point he earned all afternoon.

From there, it was all downhill for the Swiss star. Nadal was unable to convert four break points in the fourth game. No matter as he broke through for 4-2 and then went to set point in the eighth game after a relentless forehand barrage sapped the will out of Wawrinka.

A backhand which sailed long gave Nadal the first set with the Spaniard having crunched 10 winners to Wawrinka's four while committing half the unforced errors. Nadal forced Wawrinka into another forehand error to break for 2-0 in the second set before the Swiss halted a run of seven games lost with a hold for 1-3.

But the script remained the same, Nadal taking the set in ninth game, just moments after Wawrinka had destroyed a racquet in utter frustration.

First game of the third set and Nadal broke again as Wawrinka suffered further damage. He was soon a double break to the good for 4-1, held for 5-1 and then claimed a huge slice of history when Wawrinka limply dropped a backhand into the net.

CHAMPIONS TROPHY

India beat South Africa, enter semi-final

London, June 12- South Africa were quashed mercilessly as India beat them comprehensively by 8 wickets to dump the top-ranked ODI team in the world out of the ongoing ICC Champions Trophy at The Oval in London yesterday.

South Africa have only themselves to blame for another graceless display in a big match as three run-outs, including that of Captain and key-man AB de Villiers, ensured they never stood a chance of challenging the Indians.

The victory means India are likely to face Bangladesh in a mouthwatering semi-final at Birmingham on Thursday. And the primary reason for that victory was South Africa's suicidal running between the wickets.

Virat Kohli's decision to field first on a flat Oval track on a bright and sunny London day was a result of the nature of the match and perhaps a lingering memory of their defeat at the hands of Sri Lanka on Thursday last. The Indian captain has reiterated several times the ease of chasing a target rather than having to set one and when he called it right at the toss, Kohli was sure he wanted to chase in the virtual quarter-final.

And that became evident in the way he helped his team chase down a rather small target of 192 runs. South Africa were given an early hope by Rohit Sharma, who decided to let go of his defensive ways early in the innings and attacked a shortish delivery bowled by Morne Morkel, only to edge it straight to Quinton de Kock's gloves in the sixth over.

Shikhar Dhawan and Virat Kohli gave due respect to the main strike bowling duo of Kagiso Rabada and Morne Morkel, before opening up against Chris Morris and Andile Phehlukwayo. Dhawan started the charge in the 10th over by hitting Morkel for two back to back boundaries on the off side. Kohli backed him by targeting Phehlukwayo and Morris. There was a chance in 16th over as Phehlukwayo managed to induce an edge out of Kohli, but Hashim Amla's diving effort went in vain as the ball popped out of his stretched right arm.

After that it was just about how soon India could topple South Africa's below par total. Both Dhawan and Kohli mixed caution with aggression and went about pursuing the target with ruthless professionalism, helping each other to half-centuries. Dhawan brought his 19th ODI fifty up in the 24th over with a boundary off Chris Morris, while Virat Kohli completed his 41st ODI fifty in the 28th over. Dhawan departed for 78 in the 31st over, misreading an Imran Tahir googly, but by then the result of the match was a mere formality. The target was achieved on the last delivery of the 38th over itself to bring an end to a rather one-sided affair. Yuvraj Singh smashing Duminy for a maximum to stay unbeaten on 23.

WORD OF THE DAY

Calaboose

Pronunciation: KAL-uh-booss
Meaning: Jail; especially, a local jail.
Origin: Calaboose had been part of the English language for almost a century when John S. Farmer included the term in his 1889 book Americanisms—Old & New, defining it as "the common gaol or prison." Farmer also made mention of a verb calaboose, meaning "to imprison," but that term was apparently lost in the years between then and now. Calaboose is Spanish in origin; it's from the Spanish word calabozo, meaning "dungeon."

THE ODD WORD

Kitthoge

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Comparisons are odious

Meaning: The phrase literally means what it reads; often used to suggest that to compare two different things or persons is unhelpful or misleading.
Origin: The earliest recorded use of this phrase appears to be by John Lydgate in his Debate between the horse, goose, and sheep, circa 1440:
"Odyous of olde been comparisonis, And of comparisonis engendyrd is haterede."
It was used by several authors later, notably Cervantes, Christopher Marlowe and John Donne.
In Much Ado About Nothing, Shakespeare gave Dogberry the line 'comparisons are odorous'. It seems that he was using this ironically, knowing it to be a misuse of what would have been a well-known phrase by 1599 when the play was written.

QUOTE BOX

A man who dares to waste one hour of time has not discovered the value of life.
—Charles Darwin
